AUSTIN J. GRAELIS

WILLIAM GRAELIS

- Brothers -

On September 14, 1922, Austin was employed as a clerk by the firm of Lyons & Parker, while his younger brother, William, was employed as a messenger.

When Willie Stevens' two suits came in on September 20, 1922, Austin claims he put them to one side to be sent to the cleaners. He also recalls that all suits from Willie Stevens were dirty and that he did not care to handle them. States he never made any statement that the clothes had blood stains on them and does not recall anything specific on this point.

William, the messenger, recalls that he did not go to the Hall home for the suits, but remembers sending another boy for them whose name he does not recall.
